WILL START AIR MAIL IN 1937

Final week in the establishment of a trans-Canada air-mail service will commence not later than next spring, according to word from officials this week. The route will be across Alberta through Lethbridge to Fernie, B.C. and Westward. There are many flying fields already established along this route. There will be a north-south mail service from Calgary to Edmonton, north to Alkali, as well as a regular Edmonton-Calgary service.

ROYAL PARTY VISITS NEW SHIP

SOUTHAMPTON—The King saw the liner Queen Mary from the air on Monday. His scarlet and blue biplane circled over the great ship and then swooped down to a landing at East Leigh aerodrome.

His Majesty joined other members of the Royal party in Southampton to inspect Britain's mistress of the seas. It was the King's visit of God-speed before the Queen Mary sailed Wednesday on her maiden voyage to New York.

In the Royal party were Queen Mary herself, the Duke and Duchess of Kent, the Duke and Duchess of York, the Duchess of Gloucester and the little Princess Elizabeth, who was tremendously excited over everything.

GRASSHOPPER MENACE

Warlike preparations are going ahead in Southern Alberta to ward off a prospective plague of grasshoppers. A map of the south, prepared jointly by the Provincial and Federal Departments of Agriculture, shows the areas the divisions where trouble is expected and also the degree of intensity. Warm, dry weather is badly needed for seeding, will be propitious for grasshopper hatching.

Farmers are asked to make a careful examination of roadsides, headlands and weedy or abandoned fields, and to report discovery of hoppers immediately to their municipal secretary. Expert advice suggests no sowing of stubble land in threatened areas. An extensive poison campaign will be conducted if danger develops.

CENSUS OF THE PRAIRIE PROVINCES

The quinquennial census of the three Prairie Provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, will be taken on Monday, June 1. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics points out that it is specially important at the present time that a complete and accurate inventory be obtained.

There are twelve inquiries which will be made by the census takers. These include industrial status, unemployment, employment and earnings of the gainfully occupied population. It is hoped that every question will be answered fully and it should be noted that there need be no fear that information given will be available to anyone. The utmost secrecy is preserved and in no circumstances will any information be supplied by individuals be used as a basis for taxation or for any other purpose. All officials and clerks are bound by an oath of secrecy.

J. K. BEATIE OF TWINING WINS $10 PRIZE FOR GRAIN ESSAY

A short time ago the Radio Grain Farm, sponsored by the North-West Grain Dealers' Association and the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, conducted a competition for the best essay dealing with grain growing. A resident of the area adjacent to Carbon was the winner of one of these prizes. He is Mr. J. K. Beatie, of Twinning, Alberta, and was the winner of a $10.00 prize for an article entitled "Major Problems in Grain Marketing."

Mr. Cecil Lamont of the Grain and Milling Advertising Service has been thoughtful to send a copy of the prize essay to The Carbon Chronicle, and while space does not permit the publication of same, we would be pleased to give any of our readers the opportunity of reading it should they so desire.

GRAND FORKS NEWS

A good crowd was at the grounds on May 24th and three pick-up games were played, two between the men, and one between the ladies and small boys.

Grand Forks went to Mt. Vernon on the evening of the 24th and the soft ball game played ended in a 6-6 score in the ninth inning, the game being called on account of darkness.

The horse shoe players started their favorite game on Sunday, Tom White is in charge and all horse shoe players are asked to come along and join in the game. Regulation shoes are being used.

Some of the boys and girls were away in Pine Lake on Sunday.

DOMESTIC WHEAT PRICE IN GREAT BRITAIN

In the British House of Commons, Hon. Mr. Elliott, Minister of Agriculture, stated that there would be no change in the standard price of British grown wheat during the current year. This price works out to approximately $1.10 per bushel (Canadian funds). Some effort has been made to have the government of Great Britain increase the limit of 48,000 bushels as the basis on which deficiency payments are made. The British government sells its wheat at the market price and the government makes up the difference to the amount of the minimum.

FARM DEBT SETTLEMENTS

Some 11,011 Canadian farmers with total debts of $51,000,000 have had this indebtedness reduced through application to the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act by the sum of $15,341,430. The aggregate annual interest savings to these farmers is $1,225,718.

J. DEUSHAW CRUSHED BENEATH CAR

We understand that Mr. Deushaw, the new Pioneer elevator agent, suffered a broken collar bone and other injuries on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Deushaw had his car jacked up and was putting in a new spring. While he was under the jack suddenly slipped and the car came down crushing him beneath it. Mr. Deushaw was taken to Calgary hospital for x-ray examination.

Catcher: Hi! You're giving me a piece of bone.

Pitcher: No, I'm not. You're paying for it.

As prevailed south of the river where spring work has made normal progress and all seeding is well advanced. North of the river work on the land was impeded by heavier rains until early in the present week, although considerable progress has been made during the last few days, with the major percentage of wheat seeding completed.

Heavy rains on May 20th were more or less general from the Edmonton zone south to the boundary. Although this only added to the excess moisture in the north, it was most opportune in the more southerly districts where a deficiency of surface moisture was beginning to be felt. A precipitation of 1.04 inches is reported from Lethbridge for last Wednesday's rain.

Grass is growing rapidly in all parts of the province. There is a distinct tendency towards increase of forage crops in the north. Further reports of severe winter-killing of alfalfa are reported from irrigation areas at Vauxhall and Brooks.

High winds have caused a limited amount of soil drifting on light lands of the south and east-central districts where there was insufficient surface moisture. The heavy rains of May 20th have largely corrected this in condition.

With the advent of warmer weather, grasshoppers are hatching in scattered districts from the south boundary north as far as Morris. Some damage to the wheat crop of Basano is reported. Poisoned bait mixing carts are already in operation at points where the infestation is most severe.

WHEAT IN CARBON AREA

Commencing last Wednesday morning and lasting for more than two hours, rain fell over the entire district, benefiting crops and providing plenty of moisture for the rapid growth which is now taking place.

Practically all wheat seeding was completed before last week's rain and most of the summerfallow is now a mass of green with the growing rain.

Wheat in some cases is about six inches above the ground and the soil is very moist, and which seems to be continuing, has greatly advanced the crop.

Local pastures are the best for some years and side hills, which usually turn brown about this time of the year, are bright and green.

The Burden Of Debt

Figures revealing the enormous burden of debt under which the people of Canada are staggering have recently been published in the first of a series of articles by Major J. Greenham de Lorimer in the Montreal Daily Star.

The article is prefaced by the announcement that the author is a recognized statistician with an international reputation, that his work has been officially recognized both in Great Britain and the United States and that the information he reveals throws a new and alarming light on the whole Canadian debt situation.

Major de Lorimer then proceeds to hurl figures at his readers showing at the outset that, exclusive of private capital invested in domestic enterprises such as farms, houses and other small estate property, the people and industries of this country are indebted to investors in a total of $18,225,214,823, covering bonded indebtedness of Dominion, provincial and municipal authorities, schools, investments in railroads, electric tramways, electric stations, telephone companies, all manufacturing concerns, mines and metal industries, forestry and fisheries industries, public utilities, trading establishments, finance, insurance, loan and mortgage companies.

The writer states that of this total securities for $3,302,820,361 are held by foreign investors or 51.04 per cent. and the remaining $14,922,424,562 or 48.92 per cent. represents investment by Canadians.

Dividing the total in another manner Major de Lorimer shows that of this grand total $11,427,086,492 or 62.70 per cent. is "dead weight" debt or indebtedness on which principal and interest must be paid out of public taxation.

Further analysis of several tables of figures scattered through Major de Lorimer's article show that the total bonded debt chargeable to the people of the three prairie provinces is $1,470,820,067 of which $915,648,966 represents dead weight debt for which payment must be made out of public taxation levied on the people of these three provinces.

Allocating these debts to the three individual provinces, every man, woman and child in Manitoba is pledged in a total of $57.69 or for dead weight debt, $533.16. Saskatchewan's per capita share of every total debt is $180.66 or $250.41 for dead weight debt and every individual in Alberta is pledged for a total debt of $85.70 and debt payable out of taxation is $149.55, and it must not be forgotten that these figures do not include private capital invested in small domestic enterprises. Multiply these figures by four and a fraction and the indebtedness of the average family is revealed. If Major de Lorimer's figures are unimpeachable.

Major de Lorimer lays the blame for this condition of affairs at the doors of the Federal and provincial governments as well as the municipalities and school authorities of each province, stating that this huge burden is attributable to over-borrowing and not to Canada's participation in the Great War.

There can be no gainsaying the implied corollary that Canada is over-governed when it is remembered that a population of 10,276,786 people (1921 census) must pay for the privilege of a Dominion House of Commons consisting of 249 representatives and nine provincial legislatures consisting of another 360 representatives. It is not alone the cost of upkeep of so many legislative institutions which has plunged the people into such heavy indebtedness but the expenditures which so many representatives have been expected to authorize to ensure a place in the sun for their respective constituencies.

That this country has more government than the population warrants can be understood when it is pointed out that there is a representative in the Canadian House of Commons for every 42,354 persons as compared with one for every 21,909 of population in the British House of Commons and when to this is added representation in the provincial legislatures averaging one for every 112,762 of population, the expense of government is altogether disproportionate to the population and it is easy to see why.

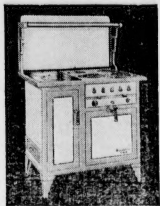

To cope with this situation various remedies have been broached from time to time including proposals to reduce the number of legislatures to five, one for the maritimes, one each for Ontario and Quebec, one for the prairie provinces and one for British Columbia. Another is a reduction in the status of the provincial legislatures to that of the county councils of England, which unlike the legislatures are not sovereign bodies and are limited in scope and authority.

With the western provinces in financial difficulties some of these proposals are likely to be at least discussed in the near future, even if they are not the solution to the problem.

Two thin garments are warmer than one thick one because the air between them is a poor conductor of heat.

Thirty-Six Million in One Hand

Eighty checks totalling in value no less a sum than $36,715,450 changed hands on May 1 when the Canadian Pacific Railway paid off the balance in principal and interest due of the sixty million dollar loan contracted in 1932, and guaranteed by the Dominion Government at that time.

It will be remembered that in June of that year the Canadian Pacific had to raise the sixty million to meet maturing obligations. The money markets of the world were then feeling the full effect of the financial crisis and were closed with the result that it was not possible for a Canadian institution to borrow on terms as advantageous as those offered by the Dominion Government at that time.

The Canadian banks therefore agreed to contribute in making this loan, but as an added measure of security to the banks, the Dominion Government agreed to guarantee repayment of the loan both as to principal and interest. The loan was to mature in five years, or might be paid off by the Canadian Pacific prior thereto on notice to be given to the banks. It has been paid off in full in less than three years, and the obligation of the government to guarantee payment came to an end automatically the moment the checks listed today were presented. Furthermore, since all interest and other charges have been paid by the Company, the entire transaction has not cost the Dominion Government one cent. The loan originally carried an interest rate of five per cent, but later this was reduced to four and a half per cent. New loans raised by the Company to pay this interest, were made at a still lower rate of interest.

HOUSE FLY IS PUBLIC ENEMY

With the advent of spring comes the menace of the house fly—which may correctly be termed Public Enemy No. 1. It is world wide in distribution and for the part it plays in spreading such serious diseases as typhoid fever, tuberculosis, cholera, dysentery, infantile diarrhoea, and other dangerous epidemics. The fly breeds in filth; infects itself with filth; carries germs of filth and disease on its legs and body and in its intestines; and with these germs poisons food, especially milk, one of the principal nutritional items in the establishment of the human race.

The most effective and desirable method of controlling the house fly undoubtedly consists in eliminating or reducing its breeding places to a minimum by properly treating or disposing of such materials as manure and garbage. Garbage receptacles should be kept tightly covered and where possible all refuse should be burned or buried at once or without undue delay. If it cannot be disposed with, refuse should never be left exposed but sprinkled with powdered borax or chloride of lime. Windows and doors of houses, particularly those of the dining room and kitchen should be screened and all flies that gain entrance destroyed. This may be done by the use of fly swatters, fly paper or fly spray. Milk and other food should be screened in a sick room, and the faces of sleeping babies, or babies lying in their cots or carriages, should be screened with muslin.

TAKE STOCK OF YOURSELF

When one finds he is out of sympathy with his town, and can only say a good word for it coupled with an apology, he ought to get out. Many people fall into a sort of unconscious habit of growing, but it's a miserable habit. Such people make of themselves a dead weight, while, of course, they imagine themselves particularly independent. The individual has about all he can do to get along under his own loads, and he wants help and encouragement from those going his way, and who are identified with him in interest. So with the town. It has its interest to care for and it needs all the pluck, all the energy, all the co-operation and helplessness its citizens can provide and bring to bear. Every man is a part of his town. The town embraces the fortunes, and in some measure at least takes on the character of the man. So loyalty to one's town is no more than loyalty to one's self, and this loyalty is in the line of all well shaped human nature. Therefore it is right to say that the man who does not stand up for his town is in some way deformed. There is something wrong about him. His fellows will pass this judgment upon him, and his chances are that while he may add to the discomfort of others he will not escape making himself unhappy.

A.M.A. ISSUE 100,000 STRIP MAPS OF ALBERTA HIGHWAYS

Hot off the presses, 100,000 new strip maps which have been prepared by the Alberta Motor Association are now being distributed to all official appointments of the A.M.A.

These new maps, brought up to date in every particular from government records showing work done to the end of 1935, are available at hotels, garages and also at branch offices of the Motor Association.

A wealth of valuable information for the tourist is contained in a set of these maps. Routes to follow to particular holiday spots, places where the fish bite best, popular tourist resorts and regulations concerning tourists and motorists are set out with care and clarity.

This year a big tourist rush to this province is anticipated, making it certain that there will be a heavy demand for the maps and other touring information supplied by the A.M.A.

GOOD ADVICE

To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future.

To wear a cheerful countenance at all times, and give every living creature you meet a smile.

To give as much time to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others.

To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear, and too happy to permit the presence of trouble.

To think well of yourself, and to proclaim this fact to the world not in loud words but in great deeds.

To live in faith that the whole world is on your side so long as you are true to the best that is in you.

"Oh, Mother," said little Nellie, who had been taken to see her twin brothers for the first time, "did you order two?"

"No, darling, only one!"

"And you took them both?" reproached the little girl. "That's quite right. You are careless about your housekeeping!"

The Rocky Mountains Call

Two of the most democratic societies in the world, whose membership includes a former king and queen, famous statesmen, and common folks, all on an equal footing, are the Sky-Line Trail Hikers and Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, whose annual outing this year promises something new in the way of scenery and energetic healthy recreation.

The Trail Riders, whose five-day trip starts from the Banff Springs Hotel on July 31, will tour a section of the Park which was chosen by Major P. J. Jennings, superintendent of Banff National Park, for the interesting variety it offers. The centre of activities for the Sky-Line Trail Hikers, from August 7 to 16, will be Lake O'Hara, probably the most beautiful spot in the Rockies. In both cases there is splendid fishing in swift-running mountain streams, and unlimited opportunities for the camera enthusiast.

The Trail Ride actually begins about four miles from Banff, winds its way between Mount Edith and Mount Norquay, follows Portneuf Creek east of the Sawback Range, passes over Indian Pass, follows Johnston Creek down to the end of the spectacular canyon of the same name, and ends up near the highway where there is an ideal spot for the Fox Wow and Sing-song that concludes every Trail Ride outing. It provides five care-free days with fine open Alpine meadows, high passes, good timber, and lakes and streams of great beauty.

Plans for the Sky-Line Trail Hike make provision for one cent camp at Lake O'Hara. This will avoid changing camp every night as has been done in the past and will reduce the cost of the outing considerably. From Lake O'Hara the hikers will make forays of adventure over the Ross Lake Trail to Lake Louise; through the Narrows Lake district; along spectacular Cataract Creek to the loquacious beauty of Lake McArthur and along the McArthur creek trail; and southeast through the valleys of Lady Mount Yukon, Humeau, and Wencheman.

INSURANCE CUT ON HUDSON BAY ROUTE

Proponents of the Hudson Bay grain shipping route are pleased over the reduction of 25 per cent in marine insurance rates on boats carrying grain from that port. Rates have been quite high, and it has been argued that expensive insurance has kept boats away from Churchill. It cost something like $4,000 to insure a boat valued at $250,000 going into Churchill. The reduction in insurance rates as announced by Hon. C.D. Howe, Minister of Railways, who also stated that the shipping season will be extended from August 5 to October 10th before surcharges are added to marine insurance.

SYNOPSIS

The story opens with Link Fleming addressing a meeting of Boone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

The meeting terminates, but Buzz Hamilton and his sister, Helen, Link and Kigo stay behind and Helen asks Fleming questions about his irrigation plan. This angers Buzz, who accuses Fleming of trying to influence his sister and, as he asserts, ruin his "spread". Buzz shoots at Fleming in an uncontrollable fit of anger, but, Buster Townsend, Link's foreman, is shot in the stomach, and Fleming is unharmed. Buzz is arrested and sentenced to three years imprisonment.

Helen and Fleming form a partnership to provide irrigation for their own properties. Fleming goes home and studies the plan drawn by Townsend to learn whether they could be adapted to a smaller scheme suitable for his own land. He is satisfied it could be done. Feeling cold, he lights the fire and there is an explosion that wrecks the house, burns it and the plans and renders Link unconscious. He is rescued from the blaze by an employee.

Buzz Hamilton arrives back in Rawhide while Fleming and Helen are in the bank getting a loan for payment of wages for work on the dam. Roger Kigo, Jackpot, Mel and Link come from the bank. Buzz has several drinks. Roger has started the fact that the dam proposal to Buzz, making it appear that Buzz was trying to ruin his dam. Buzz, inflamed with liquor and anger, tries to throttle Fleming, but is thrown to the floor. Then Helen appears and tells Fleming she has been robbed of the $500 they had obtained from the bank.

On their arrival home they were met by a couple of Link's workmen, who told Fleming that there was a fire at the dam, and that the men were afraid they would not get their wages. Link told them to get their money and promised them their money as soon as possible. The men reluctantly returned to work.

Fleming finds Roger and Jackpot Mel making trouble among the workmen, and orders them off his place at the point of his gun.

Jackpot and Roger, avenged, Mel telling Fleming to carry his gun with him, as Mel would shoot him the next time they met.

CHAPTER XIII

Toward ten o'clock the following morning Link rode back to his ranch house after a visit to North Hill, where he had seen the skeleton frame of riders he had gone about cutting all saleable steers from his herd assembled there. The scene was nearly four hundred head, all he could possibly spare without seriously crippling his prospects for the coming year, even considering the probable sale of alfalfa grown by irrigation, which would enable him to purchase new breeding stock.

As he neared the corral, pondering ranch affairs, he saw the ramrod figure of Ames Stephen waiting. Apprehension flashed through his brain. He nudged Kigo's leg and rode closer. "What's on your mind this mornin', Sheriff?"

The other did not mount, but sat masticating a fresh bite of tobacco. "Link, is there any way you can get out from under this here folly of yore?"

He was forced to grin even though the words had a concerned ring. "Not unless I stay on this horse and ride till I'm dead."

"Him. From what I hear you're going to lose everything."

The rancher looked up. "What do you mean, Ames?"

Stephen purred his lips as if to whistle, but changed his mind. "Due for kiltin', too. That's bad. I heard about Mel makin' yuh, Link."

He shook his head sadly. "I'm dead set on shootin' him, but I happen sometimes anyhow. Shouldn't have shot him fader up. I—uh, Jackpot ain't never failed yet to kill a man he set his mind to."

There was a momentary silence. "What do you mean about losing everything?" the spread boss asked quickly.

"Nothin' in particular. Only I came past the Hamilton place and caught Helen lookin' like she ain't plans would end in ruin. Quer, how obstinate people could be in regard to improvement. Merely because irrigation was as yet something new and outside their limited experience, they fully expected his day to fail.

He noticed a round-shouldered rider approaching, his carriage paddling in some surprise Link recognized the hang-around of Buster Hamilton.

Helen's brother rode straight toward him and dismounted. "Hello, Link. Gettin' yore men over to the Triple H soon, ain't yuh?"

His boys are scuttin' with every point of heel we can spare, and I understand Marty Bush promised to put us first in shippin' tomorrow mornin'. They'll have us start for Junction to-day."

Puzzlement must have betrayed itself, for Buzz laughed somewhat self-consciously and stumped home Link, holding his mouth's reins over one wrist while he produced cigarette material.

"Feelin' a little cooled of sin' yesterday?" he asked.

"Sure. It was those other huns made me sure. Gyp had made trouble before. Buster fired him and I had to knock him down. Roger Kigo was the one that threw him. And as far's Jackpot Mel is concerned—"

His fingers strayed to the hard butt of his holstered gun. "It looks like trouble next time we meet. They might be friends of yours, but they sure aren't friends of mine. How does it feel to be humiliated?" he added, to change the subject.

Hamilton struck a match and inhaled a puff of smoke. He seemed to be marshalling the words of some proposal. Pondering what had transformed Buzz, it struck Link as an attempt to get him out of the world. An ex-convict, he wore an indecent mark that only time and irreparable behavior could ever wash out.

He did not help but feel deep gratitude that he was not in Hamilton's boots, and that the Lord had not handicapped him with Buzz's weak chin, his unstable nature, his utter lack of will power.

"First" wondering why I came. "First" Helen's brother added in some embarrassment. "I want to thank yuh for gettin' me paroled. You know, Helen gives yuh power of attorney. I know darned well that's the word conjured up. 'It's like livin' death.'"

Link put a hand on his knee. "Let's forget that. You and I always got along, the little while we knew each other before you—went away. I was kind to do what I could for Helen's sake. She's fond of yuh, Buzz."

"And maybe yore—fond of her?" Fleming frowned slightly. "You might put it that way. Yuh and I were a short pause. 'Trouble is, I'm in a bad position now yuh did get me out. I need a job. I don't get very well yesterday, but maybe it was the shock of comin' home an' all that. Anyhow," he declared, "I want to say the way of the 'I'm goin' to be'."

The Star Loop owner swung around. "I'm sure glad to hear yuh say that."

"Wal, it's so. I had all night to think things over, and I talked to Helen about everything. Finally I decided to ask yuh a favor because she said, and I figured, yuh'll be shore to give me a hand up."

"To anything I can, Buzz."

"Way I see it, I can't prove myself a man until I have some responsibility to do it with. A guy paroled from prison for a shooting scrape can't own anything in this state except through somebody else. What I need is a park, or wait till my time's up. That's too long."

Fleming knew that this. "Don't think I can manage a park for awhile," he pointed out.

"Shore. I got to show 'em I'm reliable. That's what I'm gettin' at. Helen's got her mind on it. She's home on her own spread—or what's a half may, by rights—but I haven't a thing to say about it. Nothing to do."

do except work like a common hand. No voice in what goes on. It doesn't set yuh good."

"I understand that, Buzz—sure."

"Sis would like to make me manager again. She told me to look after her kind of acted up yesterday. She don't want to do it just yet. The longer I sit around the harder it'll be for me to quit gawkin' and drinkin'."

I got to stay away from town to do that. Whereas if she'll make me manager, give me power of attorney so I really am manager—why, it'd be the makin' of me, Link."

Hamilton said with eyes shining with hope evident on his premature-lined face.

Fleming's first impulse was to grasp his hand and to declare warm support. But some inner voice stayed him. He recalled Sheriff Ames Stephen's visit and his veiled warning. Link frowned. "Whu put yuh up to this, Buzz?"

"What's that? Who put me up—say?" he exclaimed, his hurt look swiftly changing to defensive anger. "What the heck yuh mean? I thought of it myself—me and Helen."

There was a momentary silence. "Wish I could believe that."

Buzz's face charged with color. His eyes, Link noticed, avoided his own. "I know yuh'd be like that?" came bitterly. "I know yuh wouldn't take my chance. Not yet. Fleming-yuh got me paroled so yuh could keep me from gettin' my rights."

He started to clamber from the corral fence but Link stopped him. "Hold on. Maybe I was too fast. I'm not sure. Helen gives yuh power of attorney, eh? What does Roger think of it?" he asked, and his gaze fastened more intently on the other's face.

"Why, it was Kigo—that—"

Young Hamilton faltered. Confusion was plain in his manner, in the self-reproaching quiver of his chin. He tried to slip away from the break. "I haven't asked him yet. Why?"

"Link dropped with alacrity to the ground. Buzz followed suit and they faced each other. "Yes, yuh have. Buzz. Kigo thought this up. He's got some scheme behind this. That's the kind of a scheme could he have?"

"To get the spread away from yuh, Helen gives yuh power of attorney. I know darned well that's the word conjured up. 'It's like livin' death.'"

Hamilton underwent a swift change. His face greyed and his fingers worked spasmodically. "Damn yuh, he tried to use me and a 'Yore set on bustin' our ranch sky-high. I see through yuh not a and a lot more people. Makin' our yore crazy about my sister just to get her help to finance yore little dam. Yuh and some plan to grab the Triple H. Anyhow, yuh'll try!"

"That's bad. The Star Loop owner's tone was cold as ice. His jaw set with a snap and in Link's grey eyes was a steady warning glint. "Don't yuh claim I'm deceivin' Helen?" warned angrily, "or I'll break yuh into kiltin'! Here I got yuh paroled for a favor, and yuh—"

Little Helps For This Week

Let them that suffer according to the will of God, commit their keeping of their souls to Him in well-doing, as unto a faithful Creator. 1 Peter 4:19.

On Thy compassion I repose In thine and beyond them all, I will not ask for greater ease. Let I should love Thee less. It is a blessed thing for me To need Thy tenderness.

Look not at your pain or sorrow, however great they may be, but look from them and beyond them to the great Deliverer whose power is over them, and whose loving, wise, and tender spirit is able to do you good by them. The Lord will lead you in the right way, day by day, and keep your mind stayed on Him in whatever befalls you. The belief in His love and hope in His mercy, when you are at the lowest ebb, will keep your heart above the fountains.

The World's Highways

United States Has Almost One-Third Of All Mileage

Almost one-third of the highways of the world are in the United States. The total road mileage in the entire world is a little over 8,000,000 miles. Of this mileage, almost 3,000,000 miles are in North and South America.
